FALL 2022 EDITION

Harvard University
Ethnicity, Migration, Rights

About EMR

The secondary field in Ethnicity, Migration, Rights (EMR) offers students an opportunity to pursue sustained, interdisciplinary study of ethnicity, migration, Indigeneity, and human rights with particular attention to Asian American and Pacific Islander, Latinx, and Indigenous Studies. Courses in EMR are taught by faculty from across the disciplines in FAS, as well as at other Harvard schools, and draw on materials from the humanities and social sciences.

Study in EMR allows students to explore our core areas from a variety of disciplinary perspectives. Students who decide to pursue the secondary field can choose from a wide range of courses under the guidance of the Program Director (eleonor_craig@fas.harvard.edu), the Faculty Chair (rvegaduran@fas.harvard.edu), and members of the Faculty Advisory Committee.

Given the relevance of EMR topics to both local and global issues, the secondary field both encourages and provides opportunities for interacting directly with local communities and working outside the traditional classroom.

EMR offers two secondary field pathways in 1) Ethnicity, Migration, Rights, and 2) Latinx Studies. For more information about the requirements for the Secondary Fields:

- See page 21 of this booklet.
- Visit our website at <https://emr.fas.harvard.edu/secondary>.
- Contact us via email at emr@fas.harvard.edu.

EMR also hosts four academic working groups to bring undergraduate and graduate students together with faculty to discuss current issues in Asian American and Pacific Islander, Latinx, Human Rights, and Muslim American studies. To learn more, visit our website or contact the groups directly:

- Asian American and Pacific Islander Studies Working Group: aaswg@fas.harvard.edu
- Latinx Studies Working Group: lswg@fas.harvard.edu
- Human Rights Working Group: contact emr@fas.harvard.edu
- Muslim American Studies Working Group: maswg@fas.harvard.edu

Ethnic Studies Concentration

For more information on pursuing a concentration in Ethnic Studies through the Committee on Degrees in History & Literature, please visit <https://histlit.fas.harvard.edu/ethnic-studies>. For advising, please contact Lauren Kaminsky (kaminsky@fas.harvard.edu), Director of Studies, or Angela Allan (allan@fas.harvard.edu), Assistant Director of Studies.

Additional Information

Schedule a Conversation

Contact Program Director Eleanor Craig (eleanor_craig@fas.harvard.edu) to setup an advising meeting and discuss your plan of study.

Declare Your Secondary

Students will be able to declare intent to pursue a secondary field in my.harvard. This should be done as soon as a student decides to work on a secondary field in EMR or Latinx Studies. Students should meet regularly with the Program Director to discuss secondary field plans and progress.

Ethnicity, Migration, Rights Secondary Pathway

- Take five approved courses (20 credits).
- One course must be a Portal Course.
- One course must be taught from a transnational or global perspective.
- Two courses must be above introductory level.

Latinx Studies Secondary Pathway

(Listed as "Latino Studies" in my.harvard)

- Take five approved courses (20 credits).
- One course must be a Portal Course.
- Three elective courses must be in Latinx Studies. Though students are encouraged to focus primarily on courses in Latinx Studies, when it makes sense in a plan of study students can take up to two courses in Latin American studies.
- One course must be a comparative course taken from the EMR list outside of Latinx Studies. Comparative courses should consider study of ethnicity and culture from another perspective, which may include the study of another ethnic group within the United States or another globally comparative framework.

Additional Stipulations

- All courses must be passed with B- or above.
- One course may be taken Pass/Fail, often this is a freshman seminar.
- One course may be double-counted with a concentration field.
- Study abroad and other Harvard courses may require approval by the Administrative and Program Director.

Grants & Prizes

Summer Thesis Research Grant in Ethnicity, Migration, Rights
Deadline: February 15, 2023

The Committee on Ethnicity, Migration, Rights (EMR) awards summer grants to assist Harvard juniors with research for a senior honors thesis. The department(s) in which the thesis will be written is open so long as research addresses one or more areas of ethnicity, migration, human rights, and/or indigeneity. Applicants may be pursuing EMR as a secondary field, but this is not a requirement. Grantees must spend a minimum of six weeks engaged in research activities. Special consideration will be given to projects for which there are fewer sources of funding offered through other campus entities (e.g., projects requiring domestic travel).

Summer Thesis Research Grant in Latinx Studies Deadline: February 15, 2023

The Committee on Ethnicity, Migration, Rights (EMR) and the Instituto Cervantes at Harvard award summer grants to assist Harvard juniors with research for a senior honors thesis in areas related to Latinx Studies. The department(s) in which the thesis will be written is open. Applicants may be pursuing Ethnic Studies under History and Literature or in the Latinx EMR secondary field, but neither is a requirement. Grantees must spend a minimum of six weeks engaged in research activities. Special consideration will be given to projects for which there are fewer sources of funding offered through other campus entities (e.g., projects requiring domestic travel).

Summer Thesis Research Grant in Asian American and Pacific Islander Studies Deadline: February 15, 2023

The Committee on Ethnicity, Migration, Rights (EMR) awards at least one summer grant to assist a Harvard junior with research for a senior honors thesis related to Asian American and Pacific Islander Studies. The department(s) in which the thesis will be written is open. Applicants may be pursuing Ethnic Studies under History and Literature or in an EMR secondary field, but neither is a requirement. Projects can deal with persons or groups with ancestry connected to any part of Asia or the Pacific Islands. Likewise, 'American' need not be limited to U.S. contexts. Grantees must spend a minimum of six weeks engaged in research activities. Special consideration will be given to projects for which there are fewer sources of funding offered through other campus entities (e.g., projects requiring domestic travel).

For more information, please visit our website at <http://bit.ly/EMRGrants> in advance of these deadlines. To apply for a summer thesis grant, students must complete a CARAT application.

Senior Thesis Prize in Ethnicity, Migration, Rights Deadline: April 13, 2023

We award an annual prize to recognize an outstanding senior thesis written on an EMR-related topic. This includes, but is not limited to, theses written in Native American, Latinx, Asian American and Pacific Islander Studies, and Migration and Border Studies. Theses are evaluated by EMR faculty for their originality, clarity, thoroughness, and strength of argument. Thesis writers are encouraged to approach their faculty advisors or department heads to seek nomination.

For more information, please visit our website at <http://bit.ly/EMRGrants> in advance of these deadlines.
